PROPOSED CURRICULAR REVISION TO THE
BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN SOCIAL WORK PROGRAM

I. Background/Rationale

The Bachelor of Science in Social Work is a four-year course which aims to produce graduates for direct social work practice with individuals, families, groups and communities. Its precursor was A.B. Social Welfare under the Department of Sociology and Social Welfare in the fifties and early sixties. In 1965, Social Work was conferred professional status through the enactment of R.A. 4373 (An Act to Regulate the Practice of Social Work and the Operation of Social Work Agencies in the Philippines and for Other Purposes) and R.A. 5175 (An Act to Amend Republic Act Numbered Four Thousand Three Hundred Seventy-Three, Entitled "An Act to Regulate the Practice of Social Work and the Operation of Social Work Agencies in the Philippines and for Other Purposes") in 1967. The BSSW was instituted as a separate program in the University of the Philippines through the establishment of the Institute of Social Work and Community Development by virtue of R.A. 5174 (An Act Establishing the Institute of Social Work and Community Development in the University of the Philippines, Providing Funds for Building, Equipment, Facilities and Operating Expenses Thereof, and for Other Purposes), which was enacted on the same day as R.A. 5175 in 1967.

The last curricular revision of BSSW program was in 1996. In 2014, the Department of Social Work started reviewing its curriculum vis-à-vis current and emerging social issues and academic trends in the field. A scanning of the external environment presented major issues and opportunities that make it imperative for us to review the responsiveness of our curriculum to the times, as well as the extent that it prepares our graduates for professional Social Work practice. At the regional level there is the ASEAN integration, with its attendant opportunities and challenges to the delivery of social services and social welfare. Another development is in the field of social work itself, wherein its two major international professional bodies, the International Federation of Social Workers (IFSW) and the International Association of Schools of Social Work (IASSW), updated the global definition of Social Work to state:

Social work is a practice-based profession and an academic discipline that promotes social change and development, social cohesion, and the empowerment and liberation of people. Principles of social justice, human rights, collective responsibility and respect for diversities are central to social work. Underpinned by theories of social work, social sciences, humanities and indigenous knowledge, social work engages people and structures to address life challenges and enhance wellbeing. (<http://ifsw.org/get-involved/global-definition-of-social-work/>)

1 The above definition is a result of a series of consultation with members,
2 including professional Social Work associations in the Philippines. The IFSW
3 and IASSW General Assemblies approved the definition in July 2014.

5 Following this, the IFSW and IASSW came out with the revised Global
6 Standards for Social Work Education and Training
7 (<http://ifsw.org/policies/global-standards/>). These standards were among the 8 bases of the Commission on Higher Education (CHED) in issuing Memorandum
9 No.39, series of 2017 on the policies, standards and guidelines for the BS Social
10 Work program. Another change instituted by the CMO No. 39 is the shift from a 11 competency-based education to an outcomes-based one. While UP is not under 12 the jurisdiction of the Commission on Higher Education (CHED), the latter's 13 standards are now part of the general social work education in the country which 14 the Department of Social Work should be cognizant. Several faculty members of 15 the Department have also been members of CHED technical committees that 16 drafted and approved the said standards.
17

18 Presently, the UP Department of Social Work is the first and only Center of 19 Excellence in Social Work in the country. As such, it shall "serve as a potent
20 catalyst in specific program areas need for development of world-class
21 scholarships, nation-building and national development" (CHED Memorandum
22 Order No. 38 s.2015). This distinction bears on the Department of Social Work
23 to provide leadership in shaping the terrain of the profession through education,
24 training and research.
25

26 The 2014 curricular review led to the development of a revised BSSW
27 curriculum proposal that was submitted to the Social Science and Law Cluster 28 by the third quarter of 2015. This was actually discussed and endorsed by the 29 cluster in its meeting in November 2015. However, the approval process was 30 stalled by the revision of the GE (General Education) Program of the University
31 of the Philippines. This GE revision had been necessary because of the approval
32 of the K-12 program in basic education. The new GE was adopted by the UPD
33 University Council in its 142nd (Special) meeting and approved by the Board of 34 Regents in its 1330th meeting in 2017.
35

36 This 2018 revision of the BSSW curriculum took into consideration the 37 institution of the new GE in UP Diliman. The UP Department of Social Work is 38 proposing a curriculum revision after a series of meetings and writing
39 workshops, which will be implemented starting August 2018, in time for the 40 first batch of BSSW students who graduated from the K-12 program. The 41 program goals of the UP Department of Social Work, which were adapted from 42 the Global Standards and CHED Memorandum Circular No. 39 Series of 43 2017, were re-oriented to critical perspectives which will enable students to 44 understand and be more responsive to present and emerging social realities
45 greatly shaped by a fast globalizing world. Specifically, the BSSW program
46 aims to produce graduates who are able to:
47

- 48 1. Discuss how human behavior and social environment (HBSE) theories and 49 perspectives affect the identification, analysis and responses to social
50 problems;

2. Examine the intersectionality of personal and social identities, the multi-locality of social issues, and their impact on people's wellbeing and social welfare systems;
3. Critique the impacts of neoliberal globalization on people's wellbeing and social welfare policies, programs and services;
4. Construct professional boundaries in an interdisciplinary context;
5. Analyze different social work practice models and approaches including information technology mediated practice;
6. Demonstrate critical thinking and creativity in social work practice ;
7. Advocate respect for diversity, solidarity with marginalized groups and gender responsiveness in the conduct of the Social Work profession;
8. Commit to Social Work values, principles and ethics;
9. Demonstrate beginning competencies in generalist evidence-based and ethical practice in working with diverse client systems using transformative and empowering processes towards the promotion of human rights and social justice; and
10. Develop a body of work to reflect the quality and progress of their social work praxis (e.g. process recordings, case studies, integrative field papers).

Pursuant to the Global Standards, social work education has four curricular areas:

- I. Human Behavior and the Social Environment
- II. Social Welfare Policies, Programs, and Services
- III. Social Work Practice
- IV. Field Instruction

In the UP Department of Social Work, these curricular areas correspond to the following number series:

- I. Human Behavior and the Social Environment – 100 to 129
- II. Social Welfare Policies, Programs, and Services – 130 to 139
- III. Social Work Practice – 140 to 149
- IV. Field Instruction – 150 to 159

Other Required Courses:

Seminar – 160 to 169
Research – 190 to 199

II. Summary of Proposed Changes

The proposal for the revision of the BS in Social Work curriculum includes:

1. The institution of four (4) new courses that will complement existing major courses. One course, Critical Social Work aims to provide students with critical mindset; three more courses were instituted to respond to legal mandates and emerging trends in Social Work Practice.
2. Revision of courses such as changes in course number, titles, descriptions, stipulations, prerequisites, co-requisites and course sequencing;
3. Change in course titles were made to align with Social Work Practice areas of engagement; Some courses were aligned with numbering scheme.
4. Changes in the GE requirements to reflect the changes in UPD's new GE program, specifically the reduction of required GE courses from 45 units to the range of 21 to 36 units. In this proposal, there are 21 units of Core GE, 12 units of program prescribed GE courses, and one free GE course;

III. Institution of Courses

- (1) SW 110 Critical Social Work. Critical perspectives, their origins and application to generalist Social Work Practice

Co-requisite : SW 120 Social Work and The Filipino Personality
Credit (No. of Hours) : 3 units (3 h/week)
Meeting type : Lecture
Stipulation : Should be taken by BSSW students who have not finished 25% of the total number of units required in the entire Program.

Justification : There are different notions of what constitute Social Work and how it is practiced, hence the necessity to equip students with frameworks and tools to analyze the underpinnings of these practices. The stipulation ensures that students will have a critical mindset before proceeding to other major courses.

SW 120 The Filipino Personality and Social Work is a co-requisite to the course because it provides complementary knowledge on the determinants to the behavior of Filipino Social Work clients.

- (2) SW 134 Social Work and Social Welfare Laws. Social welfare laws and their implications to Social Work Practice

Prerequisites : SW 130 and SW 110
Credit (No. of Hours) : 3 units (3 h/week)
Meeting type : Lecture
Justification : Laws inform the practice of Social Work, as there are some national laws that mandate the duties and functions of Social Workers, hence this course is instituted. This course also seeks to align with the requirements of laws regulating the Social Work profession namely, R.A.4373 and RA 5175. Moreover, laws and the legal system affect the rights and wellbeing of people particularly the marginalized this course therefore will enable students to analyze the impact of laws on the marginalized.

SW 130 Social Welfare Policies, Programs and Services is a prerequisite to this course as it provides an overview of social welfare policies in general which put in context legislated policies or laws. SW 110 equips students with a critical mindset.

(3) SW 145 Social Work Counseling. Techniques and skills in Social Work counseling as integral tools in the helping process

Prerequisite

: SW 110

Co-requisite

: SW 141 Social Work Practice with Individuals and Families

Credit (No. of Hours)

: 3 units (3 h/week)

Meeting type

: Lecture

Justification

: Counseling has been part of Social Work interventions since the beginning of the profession in the 1800s. In the Philippines, especially in UP, counseling in Social Work has been relegated to the background because of the curricular emphasis on community organizing and social action. The last two decades, however, highlighted its importance in responding to gender-based violence across stages in the life cycle, child abuse, and psychosocial impacts on individuals of disasters, family separation because of migration, and worsening poverty, among others. There are also laws that require social workers to provide counseling to clients such as RA 8369 (Family Courts Act), RA 9344 (Juvenile Justice and Welfare Act), and RA 10364 (Expanded R.A. 9208, Anti-Trafficking in Persons Act), among others. In view of this, the CHED Memorandum No. 39, series of 2017, instituted Social Work Counseling as one of the subjects in the BSSW curriculum.

Counseling takes place in Social Working with individuals and families therefore, knowledge of the said client systems, makes SW 141 Social Work Practice with Individuals and Families a co-requisite. SW 110 is a prerequisite to provide students with a critical mindset.

(4) SW 148 Social Work in a Global Context. Approaches, processes, and skills in working transnationally and internationally

Credit (No. of Hours) :3 units (3 h/week)
Stipulation :For BSSW students who have finished not less than 75% of the total number of units required in the entire Program.

Meeting type :Lecture
Justification : SW 148 is proposed in recognition of the following: (a) contemporary social problems and issues within a nation state can no longer be seen in isolation from the global context. Intensifying neoliberal globalization processes involve not only the economic but the political and socio-cultural spheres, leading to gains for a few and further impoverishment and inequality within and between nation states for the many; (b) people are moving transnationally either by choice, force and/or necessity e.g. overseas Filipino workers, refugees, trafficked children and adults. May experienced human rights violation; (c) advances in information and communication technology make it possible to engage individuals, organizations and social movements in problem solving, advocacy, partnership development, resource generation; and (d) Social Work as academic discipline and profession operates at the intersection of local, national and global context

This course builds on knowledge provided by prior courses, hence the stipulation.

IV. Revision of Courses

A. Change in Course Number, Title, Description and Co-requisite

From

SW 133 Social Work and Human Resource Development. Training design, approaches and strategies in the field of social welfare and development work.

Co-requisite: None

To

SW 146 Social Work Community Education and Training. Approaches, processes, and skills in Social Work community education and training for empowerment

Co-requisite: SW 143 Social Work Practice with Communities for BSSW students/ COI or non-BSSW students

Justification

The change in number reclassifies the course to the Social Work Practice Area from the Social Welfare Policies, Programs and Services Area. The previous description was broad and ambiguous. The new description captures the focus on equipping students with competence in education and training for community empowerment.

SW 143 Social Work Practice with Communities is a co-requisite because it provides social work students the broader context for SW 146 i.e., community dynamics and processes, as well as social action for change, on which community education is grounded. The SW 146 is also COI for students from other colleges and institutes who have the academic and practical experiences necessary to pass the course.

B. Change in Course Number, Title, Description and Prerequisite

(1)

From

SW 100 Social Development Perspectives. Analysis of development and strategies with emphasis on third world countries.

Prerequisite: None

To

SW 111 Social Change and Social Development. Theories and perspectives on social change and social development and their implications to Social Work Practice

Prerequisites: SW 110 Critical Social Work for BSSW students/ COI for non- BSSW students.

Justification

The proposed change is in line with the global definition of Social Work updated by the International Federation of Social Workers (IFSW) and the International Association of Schools of Social Work (IASSW) in 2014, as "...a practice-based profession...that promotes social change and development, social cohesion, and the empowerment and liberation of people." (<http://ifsw.org/get-involved/global-definition-of-social-work/>) Change in course number was made to rationalize sequencing of numbers.

SW 110 Critical Social Work provides students with a critical mindset. COI for students from other colleges, departments within the College of Social Work and Community Development and institutes who have the academic and practical experiences necessary to pass the course.

From

SW 144 Community-Based Social Work Practice.

Strategies in community mobilization focused on social enterprise and entrepreneurship development, advocacy, networking and rehabilitation.

Prerequisite: SW 132, SW 133, or COI

To

SW 147 Strategies in Community-Based Social Work Practice Community mobilization focused on social enterprise and entrepreneurship development, advocacy, networking and rehabilitation

Prerequisite: SW 132 Project Development for Social Welfare and Community Development and SW 146 Social Work Community Education and Training for BSSW students/COI for non-BSSW students.

Justification:

Change in course number, title and prerequisite is necessary to align the course with other practice courses.

SW 146 Social Work Community Education and Training provides students an understanding on learning principles and education strategies needed for community mobilization and advocacy. SW 147 is also COI for students from other colleges, departments within the College of Social Work and Community Development and institutes who have the academic and practical experiences necessary to pass the course.

C. Change in Course Title, Description and Prerequisite

(1)
From

SW 141 The Social Work Helping Processes. Assessment, planning, intervention, evaluation and termination in social work.

Prerequisites: SW 120, SW 121, SW 140

To

SW 141 Social Work Practice with Individuals and Families. Theories, principles, models, methods, and skills in the Social Work helping process with individuals and families

Prerequisite: SW 120 Social Work and the Filipino Personality

Justification

The new title and description explicitly state that the focus of the course is working with individuals and their families. Individuals and families are one of the client systems of Social Work hence, the need for a course that focuses on them.

The previous prerequisite, that is, SW 121 Philippine Communities, is removed because SW 141 is now focused on individuals and families. Another previous prerequisite, SW 140, is deleted because this already has a stipulation that it should be taken before all other major courses.

SW 120 as a prerequisite provides students with an understanding of Filipino behavior and culture as individuals and as family members.

From

SW 143 Community Organizing. Theories, principles, models and trends in community organizing.

Prerequisite: SW 141 or COI

To

SW 143 Social Work Practice with Communities. Theories, principles, models, methods, and skills in the Social Work helping process with communities

Prerequisite: SW 142 Social Work Practice with Groups for BSSW students/COI for non-BSSW students

Justification The changes in course title and description are necessary to make them consistent with changes in other practice courses (e.g. SW 141 Social Work Practice with Individuals and Families) that underscore Social Work practice with specific client systems. The prerequisite, SW 142 Social Work Practice with Groups, provides students with an understanding of Social Work practice with groups. It is essential for students to learn working with groups first before proceeding to the more complex client systems, which are the communities. SW 143 is COI for students from other colleges, departments within the College of Social Work and Community Development and institutes who have the academic and practical experiences necessary to pass the course. - e.g. B.S. Community Nutrition.

Program Affected: B.S. in Community Nutrition

From

SW 122 Social Welfare and the Philippine Reality. Philippine economic, social and political realities and their effects on social welfare and social work.

Prerequisite: None

To

SW 122 Social Welfare and Philippine Realities.
Philippine economic, social and political realities and their effects on social welfare and Social Work

Prerequisite: SW 110 Critical Social Work for BSSW students/COI for non-BSSW students

Justification

Due to the fact that there are multiple realities the change in course title is proposed. Change in course title is also made to align it with course description. SW 110 Critical Social Work as a prerequisite provides students with critical lens in viewing social realities and Social Welfare. The change from small letters to sentence style of the term "social work" is to emphasize the profession rather than the generic meaning of the term. SW 122 is COI for students from other colleges, departments within the College of Social Work and Community Development and institutes who have the academic and practical experiences necessary to pass the course.

D. Change in Course Description and Prerequisite

From

SW 123 Social Deviation and Social Work. A socio-psychological perspective of abnormal and deviant behavior in relation to social work.

Prerequisite: None

To

SW 123 Social Deviation and Social Work. Socio-psychological perspectives on social deviation and implications to Social Welfare and Social Work

Prerequisites: SW 110 Critical Social Work and SW 120 Social Work and the Filipino Personality

Justification

The proposed change in course description is in cognizance of the importance to shift to a non-stigmatizing and inclusive language, and is in keeping with the current standards in Global Social Work Education and Training (2004).

SW 110 provides a critical mindset, needed to understand the different social constructions of social deviation. SW 120, on the other hand, provides an understanding of Filipino personality, needed to contextualize perspectives on social deviation in the Philippine setting. Use of capital letters for Social Welfare denotes the use of the term in Social Work parlance as "organized system of social services..."while Social Work in capital letters refers to the profession rather than a generic term for charity.

E. Change in Course Description and Co-requisite

From SW 121 Philippine Communities. Structures, gender-relation and processes of change.

Co-requisite: None

To : SW 121 Philippine Communities. Social constructions of community, processes of change, structures, gender and power relations, and how these impact Social Work Practice

Co-requisite: SW 110 Critical Social Work for BSSW students/COI for non-BSSW students

Justification The proposed course description change is in recognition of new paradigms in looking at human behavior and social environment.

SW 110 Critical Social Work provides a critical lens for appreciating the different notions of "community", and the implications of these definitions on social work and social change. COI for students from other colleges, departments within the College of Social Work and Community Development and institutes who have the academic and practical experiences necessary to pass the course.

F. Change in Course Title, Description and Stipulation

From SW 160 Seminar on Special Problems in Social Work. (No description in existing approved curriculum)

Stipulation: None

To SW 160 Seminar in Social Work Trends, issues, and challenges in Social Work practice

Stipulation: For BSSW students who have finished not less than 75% of the total number of units required in the entire Program.

Justification The proposed course title and description will allow in-depth discussions on current and emerging trends; issues and challenges in Social Work practice. This is an integrative course, hence the stipulation.

G. Change in Course Title and Description

From

SW 142 Social Work Practices with Individuals and Groups. (No description in existing approved curriculum)

Prerequisite: SW 141

To

SW 142 Social Work Practice with Groups. Theories, principles, models, methods and skills in the Social Work helping process with groups

Prerequisite: SW 141 Social Work Practice with Individuals and Families

Justification

Since groups are one of the important client systems in Social Work practice, it is imperative to offer a course focusing on these client systems.

Social Work practice with individuals has been incorporated in the newly reconfigured SW 141 Social Work Practice with Individuals and Families.

H. Change in Course Number

From

SW 101 Statistics for Social Work. Statistical analysis in social work. Theories, principles, and methods of statistics.

To

SW 198 Statistics for Social Work. Statistical analysis in social work. Theories, principles and methods of statistics

Justification

Change in course number is proposed to align the course with the Program's number series corresponding to research-related courses.

I. Change in Prerequisite

From

SW 199.1 Research in Social Work I.

Prerequisite: SW 101

To

SW 199.1 Research in Social Work I

Prerequisite: SW 198 Statistics for Social Work

Justification

The change in prerequisite is in keeping with the change in number of Social Work Statistics from SW

101 to SW 198.

J. Change in Course Stipulation

(1)

From

SW 140 The Social Work Profession.

Stipulation: None

To

SW 140 The Social Work Profession.

Stipulation: Should be taken by BSSW students who have not finished 25% of the total number of units required in the entire Program.

From

SW 150 Field Instruction I.

Stipulation: None

To

SW 150 Field Instruction I

Stipulation: For BSSW students who have finished not less than 75% of the total number of units required in the entire Program.

Justification

This is a practicum and integrative course hence the stipulation. Students need to take courses that will prepare them for this practicum.

V. Change in Program Requirements

A. Deletion of Qualified Elective

From

Soc Sci elective

To

None

Justification: Soc Sci Elective is replaced by new Social Work course to give more focus on the evolving trends of the profession and on critical perspectives that inform practice.

B. Addition of Required Courses

(1) SW 110 Critical Social Work

Justification : There are different notions of what constitute Social Work and how it is practiced, hence the necessity to equip students with frameworks and tools to analyze the underpinnings of these practices which this course offers. The stipulation ensures that students will have a critical mindset before proceeding to other major courses.

(2) SW 134 Social Work and Social Welfare Laws

Justification : Laws inform the practice of Social Work, as there are some national laws that mandate the duties and functions of Social Workers, hence this course is instituted. This course also seeks to align with the requirements of laws regulating the Social Work profession namely, R.A.4373 and RA 5175. Moreover, laws and the legal system affect the rights and wellbeing of people particularly the marginalized this course therefore will enable students to analyze the impact of laws on the marginalized.

SW 130 (Social Welfare Policies, Programs and Services) is a prerequisite to this course as it provides an overview of social welfare policies in general which put in context legislated policies or laws.

(3) SW 145 Social Work Counseling

Justification : Counseling has been part of Social Work interventions since the beginning of the profession in the 1800s. In the Philippines, especially at UP, counseling in Social Work has been relegated to the background because of the curricular emphasis on community organizing and social action. The last two decades, however, highlighted its importance in responding to gender-based violence across stages in the life cycle, child abuse, and psychosocial impacts on individuals of disasters, family separation because of migration, and worsening poverty, among others. There are also laws that require Social Workers to provide counseling to clients such as RA 8369 (Family Courts Act), RA 9344 (Juvenile Justice Act), and RA 10364 (Expanded R.A. 9208, Anti-Trafficking in Persons Act), among others. In view of this, CHED Memorandum No. 39, series of 2017, instituted Social Work Counseling as one of the subjects of the BSSW curriculum.

The proposed course will enable students to demonstrate knowledge, attitudes and skills in using counseling as an integral part of the Social Work helping process particularly in the context of legal mandates.

Counseling takes place in social working with individuals and families therefore, knowledge of the said client systems, makes SW 141 (Social Work Practice with Individuals and Families) a co-requisite.

(4) SW 148 Social Work in a Global Context

Justification : SW 148 is proposed in recognition of the following: a) Contemporary social problems and issues within nation-states can no longer be seen in isolation from global contexts; b) People are moving transnationally either by choice, force and/or necessity, e.g., overseas Filipino workers, refugees, trafficked children and adults who may experience human rights violations; c) advances in information and communication technology make it possible to engage individuals, organizations and social movements in problem-solving, advocacy, partnership development, resource generation; and d) Social Work as an academic discipline and profession operates across, within and between the intersection of local, national and global contexts.

Justification: The BOR approved the GE courses listed above via referendum on 18-28 December 2017.

(b) Addition of Program Prescribed GE

- (1) Math 10 Mathematics, Culture and Society

Justification: Replacement for the abolished Math 1. Math 10 was approved by BOR via referendum on 18-28 December 2017. As per approval, degree programs without Math course should prescribe a Math GE course.

(2) Speech 30 Public Speaking and Persuasion

Justification: This course is being required to replace Comm 3.

3.SEA 30 Asian Emporiums: Networks of culture and trade in Southeast Asia.

Justification: This course is being required as its content will supplement the knowledge of Social Work majors on the culture and trade in South East Asia, and anticipating Social Worker mobility in the context of the ASEAN integration.

(1) Econ 11 Markets and the State

Justification: This course is being required as it shall equip Social Work majors with the essential economic concepts and their use in analyzing societal issues. Knowledge on the basics of economics is necessary for understanding Social Work courses such as SW 111 Social Change and Social Development and SW 122 Social Welfare and Philippine Realities to name a few.

COURSE SYLLABUS
SW 110 Critical Social Work

A. Course Catalogue Description

1. Course Number : SW 110
2. Course Title : Critical Social Work
3. Course Description : Critical perspectives, their origins and application to generalist Social Work Practice
4. Stipulation : Should be taken by BSSW students who have not finished 25% of the total number of units required in the entire Program.
5. Co-requisite : SW 120
6. Semester Offered : 2nd Semester
7. Course Credit : 3 units
8. Number of hours : 3 hours per week
9. Meeting Type : Lecture
10. Course Goal : This course introduces students to a continuum of frameworks on the theory and practice of Social Work in the Philippines and selected countries, with emphasis on critical perspectives, their history and application to generalist Social Work.

B. Rationale

Social work as a practice-profession and an academic discipline promotes human rights and social justice. Given the realities of social injustice brought about by oppressive social structures, social work students need to be oriented on critical perspectives that will enable them to question realities and take a critical stance on social issues. The course aims to introduce students to the different social constructions of Social Work and to develop a critical mindset to interrogate the origins, philosophical and ideological underpinnings or neutrality of dominant models of practice.

C. Course Outline

1. Course Outcomes (CO)

Upon completing the course, students must be able to:

- CO1. Discuss Social Work as a context-based, dynamic and evolving profession and academic discipline
- CO2. Map the socio-political and cultural contexts of the different meanings and practices of SW in the Philippines and other countries
- CO3. Differentiate traditional and critical frameworks in social work
- CO4. Identify with critical theory as an empowering and transformative framework
- CO5. Apply a critical lens in looking at social situations.

A. Course Catalogue Description

1. Course Number : SW 134
2. Course Title : Social Work and Social Welfare Laws
3. Course Description : Social welfare laws and their implications to Social Work Practice
4. Pre-requisite : SW 130
5. Semester Offered : 2nd semester
6. Course Credit : 3 units
7. Number of hours : 3 hours per week
8. Meeting Type : Lecture
9. Course Goal : This course equips students with beginning competencies in navigating the Philippine Legal Systems in relation to the adoption and enforcement of social welfare policies, programs and services and to the performance of mandated functions of Social Workers.

B. Rationale

Social work students are expected to situate Social Work practice in the field of Social Welfare as constructed and regulated by the Philippine legal system, discuss legal procedures and processes in relation to social work practice, and analyze concomitant policy challenges, legal issues and concerns in relation to Social Work practice. This course will provide the students the opportunities to learn the specific knowledge and skills that will enable them to engage in effective Social Work practice within the context of Philippine legal systems.

C. Course Outline

1. Course Outcomes (CO)

Upon completing the course, students must be able to:

- CO1. Discuss major provisions of social welfare laws, and their implementing rules and regulations pertinent to Social Work practice;
- CO2. Explain the roles of Social Workers based on legally mandated functions;
- CO3. Analyze facilitating and hindering factors involving access to justice of marginalized communities and vulnerable sectors; and
- CO4. Examine how Social Workers navigate the legal system to promote clients' rights and interests

COURSE SYLLABUS
SW 148 Social Work in a Global Context

A. Course Catalogue Description

1. Course Number : SW 148
2. Course Title : Social Work in a Global Context
3. Course Description : Approaches, processes, and skills in working transnationally and internationally
4. Stipulation : For BSSW students who have finished not less than 75% of the total number of units required in the entire Program.
5. Semester Offered : 1st Semester
6. Course Credit : 3 units
7. Number of hours : 3 hours per week
8. Meeting Type : Lecture
9. Course Goal : This course equips students with beginning competence in working on social welfare issues with global dimensions using critical, human rights and gender perspectives.

B. Rationale

In this age of globalization, social issues affecting populations in one locality can no longer be seen in isolation from the global scenario. The phenomena of human trafficking and migration which results to myriad social welfare issues and concerns are just some of the realities that social workers encounter. Understanding and dealing with clients in such situations will need a global perspective in Social Work. As such, this course introduces students to macro Social Work practice particularly the global dimensions of social welfare issues and the connections between and among local, transnational and international responses.

C. Course Outline

1. Course Outcomes (CO)

Upon completing the course, students must be able to:

- CO1. Describe the terrain of social issues and responses of the Social Work profession at the local, national and global contexts;
- CO2. Differentiate international, global, transnational and glocal Social Work
- CO3. Identify the intersection of local, national and global context in the analysis of social issues affecting the exercise of rights, and the wellbeing of individuals, groups and / or communities using critical, human rights and gender perspectives;
- CO4. Demonstrate beginning skills in engaging clients, both local and foreign;
- CO5. Demonstrate tact, sensitivity and solidarity with diverse client systems and partners;

SW 198 Statistics for Social Work

Course Description: Statistical analysis in Social Work. Theories, principles, and methods of statistics

Rationale:

The course aims to provide students with knowledge and skills in using statistics for social work research and evaluation of social welfare programs. It primarily emphasizes descriptive statistics but also provides an introductory overview of basic inferential statistical concepts and measures. Central to the course are the conceptual learning of (1) types of variables, (2) methods of organizing measures of variables, (3) the meaning and interpretation of descriptive and some inferential statistical measures, (4) the principles of hypothesis testing, and (5) the appropriate use in describing and estimating characteristics and effects of practice within social welfare clients and of social welfare programs. Students will also have an overview on how to use a statistical software package (Stata) to perform analyses of quantitative data.

Learning Objectives:

1. To enable students to know and understand the statistical concepts and procedures needed to analyze and interpret data specific to social work and community development; and
2. To apply the knowledge and skills of basic statistical formulas through a mini-research of topics relevant to social work and community development.

TOPICS

9 Class Attendance and Participation. Attendance is required and will be checked
10 regularly. Exams, quizzes and other graded activities that take place in class cannot 11 be made up without a written excuse.

12 Homework/Seatwork. Statistics takes practice, therefore homework and seatwork
13 are mandatory.

14 Exams. There will be two in-class exams during the course of the semester. The two 15 exams will consist of the lectures discussed prior to the exam date. The final exam is 16 compulsory depending of the class standing of the student.

17 Group Report. The assigned topic to report will be randomly picked and each report
18 should be in PPT.

Course : SW 199.1 Research in Social Work I

Course Description Theories, concepts, processes and methods of research in Social Work Practice

Rationale

The SW 199 course introduces the undergraduate social work student to the theory and methods of research in the context of social work practice. It has two parts, SW199.1 and SW199.2. The SW199.1 is focused on the theoretical study of social research while SW199.2 focuses on the practical application of social research.

For SW199.1, the student is expected to develop beginner's set of skills in proper research work. The undergraduate student should be able to demonstrate this skill set by making her/his own research proposal to be submitted at the end of the semester. If approved and accepted by the professor, the proposal may be implemented in SW199.2 in the next semester in coordination with the designated professor.

Prerequisite : SW 198 Statistics for Social Work

Course Objectives

At the end of the semester, the students shall be able to:

- 1) Define and explain the importance, concepts and principles of research as applied in social work;
- 2) Understand and apply the different research methodologies and processes in their chosen field of concern and interest with special focus on interviewing, FGD and case study;
- 3) Demonstrate the basic skills in analyzing data using appropriate research methodologies and analytical tools;
- 4) Conceptualize and design a research proposal.

Course Schedule

The class is designed to include classroom-based activities (lecture-discussions, seatwork, group and individual assignments), and reading and writing breaks for students to work on the course requirements.

Date	Topic
	• Overview of SW 199.1
	• Reading break: What is social work research?
	• Submission of reaction paper on reading/s

Date	Topic
	• Introduction to social work research
	• Developing a research project
	• Types of research, formulating research objectives
	• Doing a literature review

	• Submission of research proposal

Class Requirements and Grading

Final research proposal
Reaction paper and individual assignments
Group assignments
Class participation / seatwork

The students' individual grades in the group outputs shall be assessed by the faculty (50%), their groupmates (30%), and themselves (self-assessment, 20%). Class groupings shall be determined by the faculty.

Class Policies

1. Class Attendance

- The student is allowed a maximum of 3 absences in class. More than this, the student is given the option to drop (if still within the University deadline) or to continue but losing 15% of her/his grade (equivalent to the combined attendance and class participation / seatwork grades)
- Unless in exceptional circumstances, students coming to class after 10:00 AM will be considered absent.

2. General Guidelines for All Papers

- Papers should be submitted through email unless otherwise instructed.

- The major papers should observe the following guidelines:

Reaction paper	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Minimum of 2,500 words in main text • Garamond / Times New Roman 12, single spaced • 2 reference materials cited (aside from the assigned reading) • APA format in citations
Group outputs (3)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Minimum of 4,000 words in main text • Garamond / Times New Roman 12, single spaced • 7 reference materials cited (minimum) • APA format in citations
Research topic and preliminary ideas	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Minimum of 1,000 words • Garamond / Times New Roman 12, single spaced • 2 reference materials cited • APA format in citations
Final research proposal	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Minimum of 3,000 words in main text • Garamond / Times New Roman 12, single spaced • 10 reference materials cited (minimum) • APA format in citations

- On plagiarism: Please note that plagiarism is a serious academic offense. Any student whose work is found to be plagiarized in part or fully will be automatically given a grade of 5.0 for the output.

The students are strongly encouraged to inform themselves on what is plagiarism and how to avoid it. Suggested introductory reading: "Is it plagiarism yet?" Purdue University Online Resources (<http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/589/02/>)

3. Dropping, failing the class, getting an Inc.

- Students will be informed of their class standing within the first week of November.
- Students who have submitted their final research proposals but whose grades are lower than 75 points at the end of the semester will be given a 5.0 for the course
- Students who have not submitted their final research proposals but whose computed grades are lower than 60 points will be given a 5.0 for the course.
- The grade of Inc. will be given to students who have not submitted their final research proposals but whose grades are 60 points and above.

4. Others

- There will be a 15 minute break midway through the 3-hour class (from 9.45-10:00AM)
- Mobile phones should be on silent mode while in class.

Suggested Readings

There are many materials on social work research and research in general in the CSWCD library which the student can refer to for the finer details of concepts which will be discussed in class. The list below features materials which highlight Philippine experiences in social research (not necessarily in the social work field) and readings that may help the students ground their research project on social work in the Philippines.

- B. Rationale Field Instruction is a vital step in Social Work education. As an applied science social work education aims to develop the students' capability to apply theories and concepts in real life practice of the profession. As a human service profession with the goal of promoting social change, problem solving in human relationships and the empowerment and liberation of people to enhance well-being, the building of competence in working with individuals, groups or communities sets the tone of social work education. Working with human beings is a delicate responsibility since human beings should not be subjected to experimentation, thus the supervision in the field instruction program is a very important component.
